CACERES KILLED IN SANTO DOMINGO.

Quietness Follows Action of Political Malcontents.

Administration Recently Disturbed by Revolutionary Schemes.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Ramon Caceres, president of Santo Domingo, was assassinated by political malcontents in San Domingo City late yesterday, according to reports to the State Department today. No uprising has followed yet. Cablegrams conveying the news of the assassination, filed last night, were delayed in transmission.

Mr. Russell, the American minister to Santo Domingo, is at present in this country on leave of absence and the secretary, Mr. Endicott, is acting as charge.

It is presumed here that Caceres has fallen a victim to one of the characteristic Dominican plots. It is known that Caceres's administration, which has lasted four years, an almost unprecedented period in Dominican history, has very recently been disturbed by several well defined revolutionary plots.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Japanese troops have not been sent to Tien Tsin, the Russian military forces on the Manchurian border have not been reinforced, the situation at Canton is peaceful, and no report of a massacre of missionaries has reached the American legation at Pekin, according to State Department officials today.

ACTION DENOUNCED.

Three Gloucester Skippers Charged With Smuggling in Bay of Islands.

BAY OF ISLANDS, Newfoundland, Nov. 20.—Charges of smuggling have been laid against three Gloucester skippers within a week and two of the captains have been fined by a local magistrate. The Newfoundland government recently started a vigorous campaign against smuggling, but the action of the magistrate in prosecuting the American captains has been denounced by resident fishermen here, who characterize the proceedings as persecution.

Captains Doosett and Miller were brought before the magistrate last week, and Captain Doosett was fined $200. The latest arrest was in the case of Captain Matheson of schoner Aloha, who it is alleged, smuggled 25 pounds of tobacco into Newfoundland a year ago. Schooners are allowed to bring 40 pounds of tobacco into the colony, but because the 25 pounds mentioned in the complaint was not down on the schooner's manifest, Captain Matheson was fined $125 after being kept in jail for a day and a night.

Captain Matheson claims that the magistrate reduced the fine from $125 to $50, but when the magistrate discovered later that Captain Matheson had $250 in his possession he reversed his decision and required the skipper to forfeit $125. Inspector O'Reilly conducted the prosecution.

PRESIDENT TAFT MUCH IMPROVED.

Chief Executive Suffering Only from a Cold.

Illness Contracted After Return from Trans-Continental Trip.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Dr. Delaney, the White House physician, after a visit to President Taft this morning, announced that there has been a decided improvement in Mr. Taft's condition. "He is very much better," said Dr. Delaney. "It is not anything but a cold," said another White House official. "He is in no danger and has shown marked improvement."

Although he is to be confined to the executive mansion for a few days, if the doctor's orders are obeyed, the President will not lose that time. He intends to work in his library on his message to Congress and other important matters and will receive cabinet officers and other officials there.

Secretary Hilles, who is also suffering from a cold, was declared today in no danger, but may not appear at the executive offices until his chief does.

The President cancelled Sunday night his engagement for Richmond, Va., today, where he was to have addressed the National Good Roads Congress.

The President contracted a bad cold shortly after his return from his transcontinental trip. Against the advice of his physician, Major Delaney, he filled an engagement at Frederick, Md., last week, where he addressed a big crowd.

In view of his condition, Dr. Delaney imperatively ordered that Mr. Taft must remain indoors for the time being. The President has not left the White House for 48 hours, but has attended to pressing business. Obeying the physician's command, Mr. Taft telegraphed his regrets to the Richmond congress.

There were rumors that Mr. Taft was threatened with pneumonia, but these were emphatically denied at the White House.

WITHOUT PRESIDENT TAFT.

Good Roads Congress Hears His Regrets Instead of Welcoming Him.

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 20.—The first American Good Roads Congress opened here today without its most distinguished delegate, President Taft. Late last night the President telegraphed the managers of the convention that the White House physicians forbade him to risk the visit to Richmond because of the development of a cold which the President took on the last day of his Western trip.

President Taft, in telegraphing his regrets, said: "I have been looking forward to taking part in the Good Roads Congress with a great deal of pleasure, because I am in sympathy with the movement, which is gaining strength in every state and in the nation, for the construction of permanent goo droads. The effect they will have in increasing the value of farms, in making the lives of farmers and their families much more full of comfort, and in the general benefit conferred by greater ease of inter-communication the country over, cannot be exaggerated. I wish I could be present to utter my approval and encouragement." Secretary of Agriculture James Wilson came, however, as the President's representative and was the guest of honor at most of the functions which had been planned for the President.

About 300 delegates settled down to the first day's work. One of the objects of the congress is to set on foot an organization for road building movements within states. No federal aid is to be asked but each locality is to be stimulated to share in a general plan.

The program of the first session of the congress, in addition to an address by Secretary Wilson, included a welcome to the delegates by Governor Mann of Virginia, addresses by Senators Martin and Swanson and Logan W. Page, director of the good roads office of the Department of Agriculture and president of the American Association for Highway Improvement. President W. W. Finley of the Southern Railway, Representatives John Lamb of Virginia, chairman of the House committee on agriculture, and J. Hampton Moore of Pennsylvania were also speakers. Interest in the congress is intense, especially from the Southern states.

NOT AN ATTACK ON JUAREZ.

Maderistas Celebrate Anniversary of Beginning of Madero Revolution.

EL PASO, Texas, Nov. 20.—What was supposed at first to have been an attack on Juarez by Reyistas proved, upon investigation to be the celebration by Maderistas of the anniversary of the beginning of the Madero revolution. The principal feature of the demonstration was the discharge of firearms, which gave rise to the report that the followers of General Reyes were attacking Juarez.

SECRET FOREIGN POLICY DENOUNCED.

Criticism of Dealings With Germany and Russia.

Important Statement in House of Commons Delayed.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—British foreign policy may be on the threshold of a new and most important phase. No statement regarding dealings with other nations for many years has been awaited with such great interest as the one which Mr. Asquith, the premier, has promised the House of Commons that Sir Edward Grey, the foreign secretary, will make.

The certainty which every one now admits that England was within a hair's breadth of going to war against Germany to support France in the Moroccan trouble, and the government's apparent consent to Russia's advance upon Persia, have raised a great storm of criticism. This will take the form of a denunciation of the extreme secrecy with which the foreign affairs of the empire have been conducted during the past decade, and more particularly since Sir Edward Grey took charge of the foreign office.

An important fact in this agitation, which has sprung up within a week and has taken on great impetus within the past 24 hours, is that almost all the Liberal newspapers which are the government's strongest supporters, are leading it, while the Conservative journals either join in the outcry or maintain silence.

The agitation has now been crystallized into a demand that both Parliament and the country should be given explicit information regarding the government's recent dealings with Germany concerning the attitude of the British cabinet towards Russia's threatened invasion of Persia. John Dillon, the Irish member of Parliament for East Mayo, has given notice of a motion on the foregoing lines which embodies the demands of the Liberal papers.

Since the conclusion of the Moroccan agreement, the country has been asking whether war would in any way be justified and also whether the entente cordiale with France amounts to an alliance and is not altogether for the benefit of France. The revelation in the German Reichstag of the intensity of Germany's feeling against England was a surprise. Even one or two of the Jingo organs are asking whether it is not possible for England to keep on good terms with Germany without impairing the Anglo French entente cordiale, and suggesting that assurances be given to Germany to disabuse the minds of the Germans that the entente cordiale is really against her. Mr. Chamberlain's old proposal for the formation of a foreign affairs committee, with which the cabinet should consult, thus giving Parliament some share in the conduct of foreign affairs, is now being revived.

Mr. Asquith disappointed the House of Commons by the announcement that Sir Edward Grey's statement would not be made until November 27, but promised that a day should be given for debate on the subject.

WARWICK, Nov. 20.—Five new cases of small pox were found today, four in this town and one in Coventry, the first in that town since Thursday. The epidemic has spent its force, however, and the number of persons released from quarantine daily is expected to exceed the number of new cases discovered. Today quarantine was lifted from eight house in Warwick.

LANDED AT NEW LONDON.

Four Men on Barge Wrecked Near Block Island Sunday Rescued.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The four men on board barge Helen A. Wyman, which was wrecked yesterday near Block Island, were rescued and landed last night at New London. This information came to the Scully Towing Company here today from the captain of tug Mary F. Scully, which made the rescue ten hours before the barge went down.

Wire and wireless systems along the southern New England coast buzzed last night with reports of disasters at sea. Barge Wyman broke away from tug Mary F. Scully and it was reported first that all her crew were lost. The western coast of Block Island was strewn with wreckage, among which were pieces of barge Vermont, which was stove to pieces Friday night near Plum Island, off the Northeast point of Long Island, and it was believed that all on board had been lost. The Vermont was being towed by tug Hokendauqua, which also belongs to the Scully Towing Company. The president of the company said that while the captain of the Vermont and his wife were rescued, one sailor and a baby, 17 months old, were drowned.

PORTSMOUTH.

Death of Mrs. Susanna A. Main—Anson B. Howard Preaches at St. Paul's Church.

[Regular correspondence of The News.]

Mrs. Susanna A. Main, widow of W. D. C. Main, a native and resident of this town, died suddenly Friday at the home of her sister, Mrs. John H. Arnold, in Cambridge, Mass. Thursday, November 2, she attended the Friends' Quarterly Meeting in Fall River, going from there with her sister, Mrs. Robert P. Gifford, and Mr. Gifford to their home in Providence to make a visit. Last Tuesday she went to Cambridge and was in her usual good health until after breakfast, when she was seized with such great distress that a physician was summoned, who pronounced her trouble acute indigestion. He remained with her until she was relieved. Soon afterward, however, the pain returned, and before he could reach her she died. She was in her seventy-fourth year.

Mrs. Main was a "birthright" Friend, whose Quaker lineage on both sides of the house could be traced back for generations. As was the rule in early days, she was disowned when she married other than a Quaker, and later she joined the Christian Church, of which she was a member at the time of her death.

She was the third of the six children of the late Joseph and Ruth Hathaway Gifford, the others being Mrs. Sarah Irish of Farina, Ill., whose husband, Oliver B. Irish, originally from Ashaway, moved west at least 45 years ago to join a Seventh Day Baptist Society and died this month, November 8; Edward, who died in his tenth year; Mrs. John H. Arnold (Lois) of Cambridge, Mr. Henry Anthony of Portsmouth and Elizabeth, wife of Mr. Robert P. Gifford of Providence. Mr. Main died about five years ago and she leaves one daughter, Mrs. Andrew Walker, with whom she has made her home since that time, and two grandchildren, one daughter, Edith, dying when about 12 years of age.

Mrs. Main was a quiet woman, domestic in her tastes and yet fond of literature of the best class, especially poetry. She had been a member of the Oliphant Club from its inception and until the death of Mrs. W. H. Gifford, who was president for 11 years, missed few meetings. She had a keen sense of humor, an excellent memory and her witticisms contributed much to the enjoyment of the meetings.

Mr. Anson B. Howard of Providence, who is to be ordained in two or three weeks, preached at St. Paul's Sunday morning from Luke XVII:21: "Neither shall they say Lo here! or, Lo there! for behold, the kingdom of God is within you." He gave an excellent sermon, making his point clear by many illustrations from Scripture that it is not the externals, not the without, but the within from which comes the Kingdom of peace and serenity; not the things of life, but the outlook upon them. Mr. Howard, who has been a Baptist minister for a number of years, has recently changed his belief. He made a pleasing impression on the congregation and is expected to serve the church during the winter. He was guest Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Foster.

Mr. Charles Donle of Providence, superintendent of the Rest Mission, gave illustrated Bible talks Sunday at the morning service at the Sunday School and at the Christian Endeavor meeting, just before the regular service in the evening, at the Friends' Church. In the morning he illustrated his sermon by the building of a monument of blocks denoting the various characteristics of a Christian. He took for his Sunday School subject "Ye are the light of the world." He illustrated the first by a red candle set in a silver candlestick with a border of gold, the silver denoting light the gold divinity and the candle blood. He also showed and explained the skeleton of a fish, 10 or 12 inches long, from South America called the "crucifixion fish," the bones of which are a startling resemblance of that scene. Mr. Donle, who is a manufacturer of means, spends all his available time in work connected with Bible study. He was guest of Rev. and Mrs. James M. Estes.

A large number of friends of Mrs. M. A. Steele, who was taken very ill while away from home and is at the Emergency Hospital at Nashua, N. H., sent her a postal card shower today. Although Mrs. Steele is out of danger, it is not thought prudent as yet for her to undertake the journey home.

Miss Gladys Mitchell of Swansea has been spending several days with Miss Marguerite Holman.

As this week will be the last opportunity for Rev. and Mrs. David C. Loucks of the Christian Church to meet with the two societies, the Women's Foreign Missionary Society and the Ladies' Aid, they will join at Mrs. Alonzo E. Borden's. Rev. Mr. Loucks will preach his farewell sermon next Sunday.

A rummage sale was held at the Social Studio two days last week for the purpose of adding to the fund to light the studio with electricity.

Mr. Elliott Anthony has returned from New Hampshire to this home here, where he will remain until about Christmas time, when he will go to Eustis, Fla., to spend the winter.

Mr. Benjamin Brownell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Brownell, has gone to Richmond, Ind., as a student at Fordham College, an institution of the Society of Friends.

The guild of St. Paul's Church held its regular meeting with Mrs. Harry Dale.

Father Rooney of St. Anthony's Church has received news of the death in Jacksonville, Fla., of Father O'Mahoney, with whom he had traveled extensively while engaged in missionary work across the ocean. Father O'Mahoney was much younger than Father Rooney and became incapacitated by the hard work and was allowed to go to Florida for his health. His death was caused by burns received in a fire in his study.

VENUS IN THE EARLY MORNING.

The planet Venus is now a very beautiful object in the eastern sky in the early morning. Its rising is probably before 3 o'clock, and it is perhaps 10 degrees above the horizon at dawn. In comparison with the other planets its nearness to the earth makes it seem very large. It is the most brilliant of the planets, and good authority says it may sometimes be seen with the naked eye in daylight. It is well worth making a special effort to see on any clear morning in this part of the year between 3 and 6 o'clock.

LADIES' SUITS AND GARMENTS.

There are many folks in town and vicinity who are not aware that ladies' suits and garments are made at this store. "THAT OVERCOAT FITS FINE"

Said a gentleman the other day at Anthony M Marolda's tailor establishment, 300 Thames St. "I am so well satisfied with it that you may make me a suit of clothes from this piece of blue serge cloth." Did you know that if you wanted a beautiful sign or a scene painted that it is done at their shop? Of course everyone knows of the "awnings" and some other time I will tell you of another little matter concerning this concern that will interest you. I am sure.

In some respect. It is our business to discern the attractive feature and to bring it out in our photographs. If your photographs heretofore have not proven satisfactory a sitting at this studio will be a move that will produce a photograph that will satisfy you. This is not an exorbitantly high-priced studio. Prices for work are very reasonable. The Ernst Portrait Studio, 126 Bellevue avenue.

WHEN YOU MAKE YOUR OWN

Ice cream at home and folks do, it tastes pretty good—you make it in small quantities however. Did you ever stop to think of the man who makes ice cream day in and day out? He has to have things just right and this is particularly true of Tasso Bros who have an excellent plant for the manufacture of ice cream.

ANYTHING IN CUTLERY.

A pocket knife or a pair of scissors perhaps? Ever since the case in the front of this store was cleaned out sometime ago by someone in the stillness of the night, we have sold more knives than ever before. Further strange thing. TALES OF AERIAL NAVIGATION.

"Battling the Big Horn," and "The Airship Boys' Ocean Flyer," Aviation Stories.

"Battling the Big Horn," by Ashton Lamar, is a story which will please all boys who are interested in aviation. Two young fellows, Frank Graham and Phil Ewing, construct an aeroplane, a feature of which is an enclosed aluminum cabin, affording a wind, rain and cold-proof space. When tried out the machine is caught in a heavy rainstorm, but the boys are able to land safely. The newspapers report the adventure, which in this way comes to the ears of Guy Mackworth, Frank Graham's uncle. Mr. Mackworth is a sportsman of the big game variety, having hunted all over the world. He persuades the parents of the two boys to allow them to accompany him and two English visitors on a hunting trip in the Canadian Rockies. The aeroplane is to assist them in battling with the mountain sheep, the big horn.

The experiences of the boys from the time they leave home in Mr. Mackworth's private car, provided with every luxury, until they reach the Canadian Rockies are such as to make every boy reader long to go on a similar trip. However, the adventures they have after arriving in the big horn district are distinctly more thrilling, with an element of danger added. The practicability of using an aeroplane in the mountains and in locating the big horn is proved by the wonderful success of the hunters.

The illustrations, of which there are several, are by Joseph Pierre Nuyttens. [Reilly & Britton Co.]

"The Airship Boys' Ocean Flyer," by H. L. Sayler, is another aviation story. As the title implies, it is an account of a trip across the Atlantic, the first ever made in an aeroplane. The opening chapter, however, has to do with a big New York newspaper office, and glimpses are given of the way a newspaper is made up, of the methods used to obtain copy and how a "beat" is accomplished. The "beat" in question concerns the airship boys—Ned Napier, Alan Hope and Bob Russell—who have just tried out their new flying machine, the biggest ever made, capable of running 200 miles an hour.

The boys intend to cross the ocean, keeping all the proceedings secret, but an inquisitive reporter, after working a few days in the factory where the aeroplane is being built, learns of their plan and writes it up for his paper. Strange to say, the "beat" did not appear in that morning's edition, for the managing editor has a still greater one in his mind. As a result the airship boys and the reporter start together in the Ocean Flyer, reaching London 12 hours after leaving New York and making the same time on the return trip, bringing with them other reporters, copy and photographs of the Coronation, in time for that morning's edition, thus beating out all other New York papers.

The experiences of the boys on their ocean voyage are thrilling as well as dangerous and make fascinating reading for all interested in aerial navigation. The illustrations are by S. H. Risenberg.

FIRST TO BURN OIL FUEL.

The Utah Makes Successful Sea Trip and Officers Are Enthusiastic Over the Feat.

With the record of being the first battleship of the world's navies to make a sea trip burning oil fuel alone the Utah reached the Charlestown navy yard from New York. She was under way 40 hours, 10 of which were devoted to swinging ship to adjust compasses and in that time she burned 170 tons of oil. The distance covered was 290 miles. The Utah is not fully equipped as an oil-burning ship, and during the 40 hours eight tons of coal were used in the furnaces to protect the grate bars and to make a surface over which to spray the oil.

Had it not been necessary to stop frequently and to make various speeds in connection with the compass adjusting, the ship could have steamed from New York to Boston at the rate of 20 knots an hour. There were times when she made 20¾ knots, her contract speed, and her officers are confident that had she been driven she could have steamed even faster.

The success of the Utah's oil burning experiment, credit for which really belongs to Lieutenant Commander W. W. White, her chief engineer, may mean the elimination of coal burning ships from the navy. The Utah's officers are enthusiastic over the feat accomplished by their ship. It means that when the Navy Department takes advantage of what the Utah has proven the battleships of the United States navy will be 100 per cent more effective as war machines than they are today. A ship like the Utah can carry enough oil and provisions to permit her to remain at sea three months and a half, and with oil as fuel she can steam 20,000 miles at full speed. The best battleships of the navy which burn coal cannot steam more than 6,000 miles with the supply their bunkers will hold.

With oil fuel the Utah can get steam on and be under way inside of 30 minutes. With coal as fuel this will take her three hours and a quarter. With oil as fuel a ship cannot be detected at a distance at which she can be reached by the enemies' guns, and the faint white smoke which comes from her funnels cannot be seen until her hull is in view.

ORDERS TO NAVAL OFFICERS.

The following orders to officers have been issued by the Navy Department:

Commander C. F. Hughes, detached from duty on the board of inspection and survey for ships, December 8, and ordered to command the Birmingham.

Paymaster J. W. Morse, ordered to the navy yard, Boston, for instruction in the accounting office.

Chief Boatswain J. Winn, placed on the retired list, November 26; detached from the navy yard, Norfolk, and ordered home.

Chief Machinist J. E. Venable, detached from the Connecticut, November 22; ordered to Washington for examination for promotion and then placed on waiting orders.

Chief Machinist B. B. Bowie, ordered to the Hartford.

Machinist F. R. King, ordered to temporary duty on the Philadelphia.

Paymaster's Clerk C. R. Sies, appointed for duty at the naval station, Key West.

Paymaster's Clerk F. Scherberger, appointed for duty as assistant in the settlement of the accounts of the paymaster of the yard at the navy yard, Norfolk.

TO RACE NEXT SEASON.

Mrs. Helen Hay Whitney Will Have Six Horses in the Hunt and Steeplechase Meetings.

In society and hunting circles it is discussed as a fact that Mrs. Helen Hay Whitney, wife of Payne Whitney, will next season have not fewer than six horses to be raced in the hunt and steeplechase meetings to be scheduled by the National Steeplechase and Hunt Association. Mrs. Whitney's frequent successes this year with her solitary horse, Web Carter, have encouraged her to take this step.

Web Carter, aptly enough, won the Payne Whitney cup at the Great Neck races November 11, and prior to that her "cherry and black" jacket was frequently in the van at Belmont Park Terminal, Brookline, Berkshire and other points where amateur racing flourished this year.

Mrs. Whitney's latest triumph was when she won by default the match arranged between Web Carter and Tyosa, at Belmont Park Terminal, last Friday. Mrs. Whitney's horse and her rider, Mr. Appleton, were on hand, but because of the hard, frozen ground the owners of Tyosa decided not to go to the post.

SMOKE FROM OIL-BURNING DESTROYERS.

Tests are soon to be conducted by the Navy Department with a view to preventing smoke issuing from oil-burning destroyers. It has been noted that some of these give off a good deal of smoke, while others give practically none. Under proper conditions little or no smoke is seen from the funnels of the oil-burning vessels. The Perkins, Terry, Warrington and Walke, destroyers which are equipped with different types of burners, will be used in the experiments, and it is hoped that definite conclusions will be reached as to the best types of burner and the best method of using them to prevent smoke.

PLURAL AND SINGULAR.

[Penny Pictorial.]

We'll begin with a box, and the plural is boxes,
But the plural of ox should be oxen, not oxes,
Then one fowl is goose, but two are called geese,
Yet the plural of mouse should never be meese;
You may find a lone mouse or a whole lot of mice,
But the plural of house is houses, not hice.
If the plural of man is always called men
Why shouldn't the plural of pan be called pen?
The cow in the plural may be cows or kine,
But a bow if repeated is never called bine.
And the plural of vow is vows, not vine,
And if I speak of a foot and you show me your feet,
And I give you a boot, would a pair be called beet?
If one is a tooth and a whole set are teeth,
Why shouldn't the plural of booth be called beeth?
If the singular's this and the plural is these,
Should the plural of kiss be nicknamed keese?
Then one may be that, and three would be those,
Yet hat in the plural would never be hose,
And the plural of cats is cats, not cose.
We speak of a brother and also of brethren,
But though we say mother, we never say methren.
Then masculine pronouns are he, his and him,
But imagine the feminine, she, shis and shim.
So the English, I think, you all will agree,
Is the most wonderful language you ever did see.

THE NEWS IN PROVIDENCE

The Daily News is on sale in Providence the evening of publication at Union Station.

THE DISCIPLINE OF THE PLAYGROUND.

One of the strongest arguments which is being brought to bear in favor of more and larger public playgrounds in all cities is that next to the health it brings to the children is the discipline which they soon acquire at a time of the year when youthful misdemeanors are apt to be more pronounced than in the winter season. This is due in part to the opportunity furnished for working off surplus energy in healthy, well governed ways, but no small share of it to the methods of discipline employed at these places. The children are taught as far as possible to govern themselves, and after a few lessons, take great pride and pleasure in so doing and are intolerant of any breach by others in this direction. Even in the worst parts of the cities where the playgrounds are located in the summer months their good effect on juvenile delinquency has been noted by not only the police officials but by all who in any way have been connected with the work.

Every boy or girl however has a sense of fairness. This has been developed by the methods used at these places and the children have been shown each year how much this means, not only at the time they are at the grounds but in their life in the home and elsewhere. Mistakes of course are made by those in charge of the playgrounds and the children are liable to do things which the committees cannot permit. However, after they have been shown a few times what these acts mean to them and those associated with them, and their effect on the whole plan, their sense of justice, which often is very near the surface, though apparently hidden, and their pride in the success of the playground win out and the problem of discipline is comparatively easy.

The playground is an institution of great value in any place and its effect on some of the neighborhoods in the poorer parts of cities is pronounced. This is not only felt by the children, but through them the interest of the parents is aroused and in nearly every case they, too, are made better for what the playground brings to them. The child who is taught to govern himself even in play bids fair to carry this discipline through life and its value to him in later years cannot be over-estimated. Good health and lessons in discipline which enable them not only to govern themselves but to look for fairness in all things are two of the great things which the playgrounds bring to the children of all places where they are located. The more space that is given to those already in operation and the more of these institutions which can be established in all cities, the better the boys and girls will be, with fewer juvenile delinquencies, and the better men and women they will be in the future. The playgrounds stand for much that is helpful and good for the child and there can hardly be too many of them anywhere.

THE ACCUMULATING HABIT.

"Don't accumulate" is a good motto to bear in mind, since the mania for saving things which have long outgrown their usefulness is one of the weaknesses to which almost all can lay claim. It seems to be a fault which it is hard to overcome, and houses are cluttered and crowded and storerooms packed with useless things which people have not the heart or the inclination to throw or give away. Instead, they go on saving them from year to year and giving of their strength and time in looking out for them, both of which could be used to much better advantage. If they only had the courage to rid themselves of these things it would save not only days of cleaning but worry in caring for them. Many nerve specialists declare that one cause of their rapidly increasing practice is this mania which most persons have for clinging to the useless and the worry and care expended not only in homes but in business, and say that when people learn to live with few belongings they will have fewer jangled nerves and less use for the services of the specialists.

This mania for accumulating applies to men as well as to women and few there are of either sex who have the courage to throw away the things which they have kept for years but which long ago lost their value. They have little sentiment left for them, but the habit of saving is so strong that the articles are taken out, looked at and put back again for another year. So they keep on increasing until the care and worry they cause proves too much to bear, nerves and health give way and the specialist is called in to restore to them the health which they might have retained if they had spent in rest and recreation the time and strength used in looking out for this accumulation of useless stuff.

There are men and women who accumulate to the point of niggardliness because it has become a habit which they do not seem able to break. They are not accumulators by instinct, but rather from procrastination. They do not mean to accumulate and always intend to destroy or discard the useless things about them, but the throwing-away moment never seems to come and so their possessions increase, and also their care and worry in looking out for them. It has been said that there are a few things which it pays to accumulate and among these are health, knowledge and enough money to keep one from dependence or from worrying about what the future holds. On the contrary, the habit of filling homes and offices with useless things which make additional care is one which it does not pay to cultivate, and many times it prevents acquiring those things which are really worth accumulating. Every one should take a firm stand against this habit and begin at once to give or throw away those things which are of no special value, but which require time, strength and health to keep.

SHALL DIRECTORS DIRECT?

The decision of the appellate division of the supreme court in New York that directors cannot be expected to give personal attention to the affairs of the institutions on whose boards they sit is supported by some cogent arguments, but they are not entirely convincing. The court said New York business men are the busiest in the world and cannot take note of all the acts of the institutions controlled by them. Their advice and general direction are of great value and they would not go on boards if they must be responsible for the management. It would be calamitous, the court held, if the law imposed such liabilities upon directors that they would be afraid to sit on boards.

This is one part of the case. The other is that the banks and trust companies make a great display of the eminent financiers on their boards and expect to add to deposits by the use of these names. In the case just decided the evidence showed that George J. Gould accepted a place as director of a trust company upon the assurance of the president that he need not attend any meetings. The court declared that the president of the trust company had no authority to make such an agreement, but this opinion is not very important in view of the fact that it was held that Gould was not responsible for certain loans made by the trust company to the late shipyard trust upon dubious collateral. The effect of this is to sanction the action of a man in becoming a director merely to oblige a friend by the use of his name and with no intention of performing any duties.

Business was invited by the trust company on the ground, among other things, that so eminent a financier and capitalist as Gould was a director. His private arrangement with the president of the trust company, that he was not expected to attend meetings, was not disclosed to depositors. How would it have looked if the trust company had noted against Gould's name that he was merely lending his prestige but did not give any attention to the business? Doubtless there are many details which must be attended to by the executive officers of the company, but loans of several hundred thousand dollars are hardly trivial matters and the names of directors ought not to be used to decoy depositors.

The official returns of the recent elections in Canada give a majority of only 25,867 against reciprocity in a total vote of 1,244,451, but in spite of this the Conservatives have a majority of 50 in the House of Parliament. Moreover, the Liberals carried five and the Conservatives four provinces. The Canadians have apparently seen their mistake in rejecting reciprocity with America, and it is believed that it will not be long before there will be another change in the party in power.

According to figures prepared by the interstate commerce commission, 10,396 persons were killed on railroad trains in this country during the year which ended June 30 last. Of these only 96 were riding in passenger cars, 1,561 were railroad employes, and the remainder included trespassers, passengers on freight trains, newsboys and express or mail clerks.

The Providence mayoralty question seems to have been practically settled in the official count of the votes, and Mayor Fletcher is reasonably sure of his re-election. His small plurality, however, must be considered meagre praise when it is considered what an excellent administration he has given the city the past three years.

France is again fearful of depopulation. The official figures show that within the first six months of this year there was an excess of deaths over births of 18,279. These figures are all the more discouraging from the fact that in the corresponding period of 1910 the births exceeded the deaths by 21,189.

Cardinal Gibbons comes out strongly in favor of arbitration and says the treaties negotiated with Great Britain and France by President Taft should receive the support of the whole country.

France, for centuries the greatest wine-producing country in the world, is now becoming one of the largest importers, the home product not being sufficient to supply the demand.

President Taft's illness is quite probably due to his repeated exposures to all sorts of weather, during his long trip. Such a journey is risky business at best.

The health authorities of New York are keeping a sharp lookout for persons coming from Rhode Island who are suspected of having been exposed here to small pox.

It is not unusual for November to be blustering and stormy, but the present month seems to have more than the usual quota of heavy winds.

Now Persia has suspended diplomatic relations with Russia and is thinking of going to war. Yet these are supposed to be the days of peace.

It is "off again, on again" with the battleships. Scarcely has one squadron sailed when another arrives.

PUBLIC OFFICE AND MATRIMONY.

[New York Tribune.]

The battle over woman suffrage, fought vigorously by the women among themselves, is partly one of a pronounced difference of opinion as to its practical results. The champions of the cause make confident predictions of incalculable improvement in the moral tone of the body politic; its opponents are equally confident in their prophecies of disaster. Middle ground is held by the cynics, who maintain that nothing will be changed except the number of ballots to be counted.

All this discussion leaves aside the question of woman's right to the suffrage. It concerns itself not with theory but with practice; with the use of the ballot that women are likely to make, if they win it. Inasmuch as straws point the way the wind blows, the profession of electoral faith promulgated by the members of the Women's Homestead Association of Massachusetts is significant That association, so it announces, opposed the election of the Republican candidate for governor of the state and of the Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, not because they were unfit, of bad or doubtful character and likely to be unfaithful to their trust, but because they were not married. It has further informed both gentlemen that they need not hope for political preferment until they have committed matrimony.

The association is in feminine dead earnest. Matrimony is to be raised to the dignity of the paramount issue in nominations and elections for public office. Here is a threat and a promise to be fulfilled once the ballot has been won. The new principle is promulgated only in large outline; details are lacking as yet. We should like to be informed by the association, for one thing, exactly how large a family a candidate will have to show in order to become eligible for the Presidency and, also, how far down in the scale of office the rule is to extend. In the humbler walks of public life it may lead to a vicious circle, that of the man who cannot afford to marry until after he is elected and who cannot be elected until after he is married. Perhaps the members of the association have repented them already of their pronunciamento. They certainly have furnished the antis with an argument.

AROUND RHODE ISLAND.

Disease in the Pawtuxet Valley Officially Pronounced Small Pox.

Former Governor Garvin Sees Little Hope for the Democratic Party in This State.

Dr. Gardner T. Swarts, secretary of the State Board of Health, has announced that he has satisfied himself that the disease now prevailing in the Pawtuxet valley is genuine small pox. He said he carefully and thoroughly inspected the cases in both Warwick and Coventry, and at every place he visited he found at least one clearly defined case of small pox and in some instances more than one case. Dr. Swarts visited the valley in accord with the wish of Governor Pothier, who had been appealed to by business men to send an expert into the two towns to determine finally whether the locality is infected with small pox or some ordinary skin disease, as many have sought to proclaim it. The state board's secretary confirmed the diagnoses made by the health officials of the two towns and declared that the victims of the disease are all suffering from genuine small pox and not eczema, chicken pox or minor skin trouble. Dr. Swarts's verdict is that the valley has had a serious visitation from the scourge and the present favorable conditions are due to widespread vaccination and prompt isolation of the cases as fast as they were discovered. That conditions are better and will improve, unless some unforeseen contingency arises, is the belief of the secretary. This outcome Dr. Swarts ascribes to the conscientiousness and thoroughness of the town councils of Warwick and Coventry, both of which, he says, have acted promptly and sensibly.

Former Governor Garvin, whose belief in the ultimate victory of Democracy in this state has withstood the storms and stresses of many a campaign, caused somewhat of a wave of consternation at the People's Forum in Providence Sunday night by making the admission that to him it seemed that here is little chance for the party to make any headway. "In the last 11 years," he declared, "the dominant party has for some singular reason pushed the destruction of the opposing party. The dominant party has taken away the spring elections, the appointive power of the governor; it has instituted the Australian ballot, and now it has put in the biennial election. It is difficult for me to see any chance for the opposing party. The only chance we have is in this: If we elect a governor and 40 members of the house by whom his veto could be sustained, then we could use that power as a club over our opponents."

Captain Harry Richie sailed on the little 21-footer George Washington from Field's Point on the way to San Francisco by way of the Panama canal Sunday afternoon, his departure being attended by cheers from a big crowd of well wishers which gathered to give the daring navigator a rousing send-off. The boat, which has been undergoing overhauling ashore, was brought to the water's edge on a dray and launched. The captain went on board, and after seeing that everything was ship-shape, raised his sail and the little craft was away. As she passed the government dredgers near by she was saluted with a succession of blasts from the whistles, which were echoed from the crowd on shore by cheers. Mayor Fletcher of Providence has entrusted to Captain Richie the following note to Mayor James Rolph, Jr., of San Francisco; "This note is intended to be presented to you by Captain Harry Richie of the George Washington, a 22-foot craft, wherein he purposes to undertake a cruise from this port to San Francisco during the next few months. It is his intention to embark upon the voyage here November 19 and hopes to reach the Golden Gate by February 22. In the event of successfully completing the trip, he is hereby commissioned to present to you our cordial greeting."

Rt. Rev. Matthew Harkins, Roman Catholic bishop of the diocese of Providence, officiated at the dedication of the Church of St. Cecelia Sunday morning. A large congregation, including the pastors of a majority of the French-Canadian parishes of this section, assisted in the exercises. The services incident to the dedication began at 10:30 and it was long after noon before the solemn high mass which followed the formal dedicatory exercises ended. Bishop Harkins also officiated at the church in the afternoon, administering the sacrament of confirmation to a class of 50 young postulants.

Notices were posted Saturday about the shops of the Herreshoff Manufacturing Company in Bristol, notifying the employes that beginning today the works will run on short time for an indefinite period. This is usually a busy season, but it is said that the boat-building business is especially dull this year. Herreshoff's has been running 54 hours a week, or nine hours day. Under the short time plan the shops will work seven hours a day, with half a day on Saturdays, making the total 39 hours a week.

Thomas W. Bicknell of Providence had been appointed a delegate representing the Atlantic Deeper Waterways Association at the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, to be held at Washington, December 6, 7 and 8. The appointment was made by Congressman J. Hampton Moore, president of the Deeper Waterways Association. Edward Parsons Tobie, executive secretary to Governor Pothier, was named a few days ago as another of the Rhode Island delegation to the Washington session.

A NEW PATERNALISM IN GERMANY.

[Cleveland Plain Dealer.]

One of the wisest recent acts of Emperor William was the punishment of humiliation that he administered to the young crown prince. It was an exercise of paternalism in a peculiarly legitimate and appropriate sphere. The crown prince, who is not yet 30, and who doubtless finds life somewhat of a bore, would, to judge by his attitude, have been delighted to see Germany and France engage in the most frightful war of the world's history. He might have been pleased to take advantage of an opportunity to display himself as a person of military importance, to enjoy the recreation of the game of war.

PROBATION IN NEWPORT.

System Long in Operation, and Working Well, Even If Not Equal to Cambridge's.

To the Editor of The News:

There are two or three thoughts in connection with the recent address of Miss Hutchins on "Probation," it certainly was an admirable address, and the only chance for any criticism would have to be sought in the placing of so interesting a speaker on the floor of the hall, and all the women present wearing their hats, thus completely cutting off the opportunity for those material creatures, the men, who had accepted the invitation to be present, to catch even a glimpse of the speaker.

Newport has had "probation" for some years. Another thing for which, among many other, Newport has not had credit,is the holding of juvenil sessions of the court. This dates back a quarter century or so, here. Apparently the idea of bringing Miss Hutchins here was to shaw that probation could and should do much more than is being done under our present system.

There could be but one opinion, after listening and learning—that the system so clearly explained by Miss Hutchins is one of the biggest things in the world. If ever anybody should have the title of doccor, she should and the branch of learning which she has so completely mastered is, for its great usefulness, and its extreme delicacy, and far-reaching nature, and universality of scope, away ahead of much, not to say most, that is done in the learned acts and sciences. No doubt every one present would have held up both hands to endorse such a system and such wonderful results. It is hard to believe that there is any considerable number of such doctors of sick minds, hearts, and even bodies, as Miss Hutchins. Cambridge is to be congratulated on having such a "probation lady."

The difference between Cambridge and Newport is considerable, and it includes probation and other matters. For one thing, the Massachusetts respect for law, and the punishments imposed for breaking it, are much greater than in Rhode Island. A while ago, some law breakers disturbed some Hebrew services. (This is another point where Massachusetts and Newport differ, for Newport has always, from early times, respected and protected the Jews, and not molested them in any way.) The Massachusetts judge, finding that previous lesser penalties had not brought respect for the law, imposed jail sentences, even in one or two cases for as much as a year. This sort of thing is in the air, there. There is not that awe in the presence of officials in Rhode Island.

Nevertheless, our efficient truant officer, who is also the probation officer, sees to it that the boys and girls all go to school; and the fact that he does not appear in public and tell of his acts and experiences may not be evidence that he is without experiences and much more knowledge of the homes of Newport, and the needs of many of its wayward people, young and old, than some may suppose. Apparently those assigned to his care as probation officer do, in a large proportion of cases, show improvement. Then, too, we have a very efficient police matron, who kindly cares for the women and girls who are in the toils of the law. Possibly if she were made a probation officer, also, it would improve the situation somewhat.

There can be no doubt that such a far-reaching and thorough-going system as that in Cambridge is extremely desirable and a perfectly legitimate department of the court work in any city. It must have, however, even as shown by an incident which occurred in Cambridge during Miss Hitchins's vacation, just the right person, or it may defeat its own object. Doubtless the requirement that those on probation shall report often to the probation officer, is a good one, and there seems to be no reason why he might not sometimes take charge of cases and perhaps avoid the necessity of bringing them into court at all. There can be no question that there is a large field for such work in Newport, and services, having as much in view truly befriending and helping those needing advice and sympathy quite as much as any other object, would probably be appreciated by all classes of citizens.

One of the Interested Listeners.

Newport, Nov. 18, 1911.

JAMESTOWN.

(Regular correspondence of the News)

The east harbor Sunday was well filled with shipping, driven in from outside by the gale and high sea. Twenty two barges and one steamer were anchored off the east shore of the island and at the wharf, besides two large scows, were tugs Carlisle, Newmarket, Wyoming, Elmer A. Keeler and B. M. Waterman.

In spite of the high wind several fishing parties from Newport visited the island Sunday to try their luck from the rocks at Beavertail. A heavy sea was running at the point and most of the men returned with poor catches, not being able to find a safe place to fish. Mr. Wilmath and a party, however, secured not only a good catch but several large fish.

The Quarry Boys' football team from Newport played a picked local team in the postoffice lot Sunday, and won by a score of 18 to 0.

Barge Shenandoah which was in tow of tug John Scully, with the barges lost off Block Island Sunday, is at anchor in the east harbor, looking none the worse for the hard experience.

Mrs. A. L. Champlin, who has been guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Arnold on Howland avenue, has left for New York on her way to join Mr. Champlin in Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Cushman who have been guests of Mrs. Abbott Chandler left today for their home in Kingston, Mass.

The Fort Adams football team crossed the island this morning, on their way to play against the Fort Getle team this afternoon at that place.

Inspectors Waite and Potter were in town today to give Steamer Beaver and the quarterly inspection.

Mrs. Evalina T. Coates and Mrs. William H. Jones of Clinton avenue, were agreeably surprised Saturday afternoon by friends coming from Newport bringing the necessary supplies and having a 5 o'clock tea at their home. Miss May Griggs brought the tea, Miss Helen Yoseff poured tea and Miss Deon Jackson gave music after tea.

Y. M. C. A. PARENTS' AND FRIENDS' SOCIALS

Two socials for parents and friends of members have been arranged at the Young Men's Christian Association for this week, Wednesday and Friday evenings. Wednesday has been designated as ladies' night admittence on this occasion being through invitation of the Senior class only, who are to give a special program of gymnastic exercises. This will include wand exercises, horse vaulting, parallel bar exercises, ground tumbling, etc., and an exhibition club solo by Mr. K. B. Squires. Friday night's affair will be in the form of a reception to parents and friends of the high school class, many invitations having already been issued. There will be a literary entertainment, with refreshments afterwards.

PASSING OF THE GALE.

Variable Weather Following the Recent Storm, the Most Severe for a Long Time.

The gale seems to have passed. Sunday it blew hard most of the day from the southwest, with lowering skies in the afternoon. The temperature was not low, 44 at noon and at 2 p. m. This morning it was pleasant, with the wind northwest, changing to southwest about 9:30. This afternoon the weather looks and feels like snow, and snow or rain is promised. Some say they saw a few drops of rain, while others say they saw a few flakes of snow. Perhaps both were right.

The seas continue heavy outside, but Block Island boat Nantucket was able to go across to the island today.

The fishermen have all gone out to look up their traps and expected to find all torn up. With the exception of C. B. Anderson, none of the trap men have secured any fish in a week.

There has been some unpleasant weather during the past few weeks, but it is agreed that the wind and seas of the last storm were the most severe of the season. Captain Tom Shea reports the waves breaking on the ledge between Cormorant rock and Ochre point for the first time in a number of years. The entire coast line and for some distance out was one smother of foam and the lightship had her tossings about as she seldom has them.

CONDITIONS VIOLATED.

Claim Made by Paran Stevens Land Owners to Restrain Erection of Canter Building.

A number of the owners of the Paran Stevens land have instituted a suit against John C. Carter, who has recently purchased lot 28 on the plat, to restrain him from violating the conditions under which the land was sold. These were that nothing but a dwelling to cost at least $3,000 should be erected and that the houses should be placed at least 10 feet from the street line. It is alleged that a building costing $1,000 has been built on the lot, that it is now proposed to change this into a dairy stable, and that it comes within less than 10 feet of the roadway.

Because of this some of the adjacent owners—M. J. Conroy, Joseph Galbraith, Jane F. Keefe, Elizabeth K. Kirby and Frances W. Smith —owners of lots 23, 39, 39, and 27—have instituted a suit in the superior court to prevent the violation of the restrictions, designed to keep this land for dwellings only and prohibiting the erection of buildings thereon other than dwellings, to the detriment of other property.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Mr. Karl G. Anthony has returned from a visit to Boston.

—The Vesuvius has returned from Sag Harbor, where she was for torpedo work.

—Mr. and Mrs. James B. Haggin have returned to New York from Lexington, Ky.

—The Newport & Providence railway is to establish a waiting room at the end of its tracks at the Training Station.

—Misses Georgie and Bertha Howland of New York arrived today to visit their aunt, Mrs. Joseph Howland, on Rhode Island avenue.

—General Secretary Chapin and Mr. W. G. Stockwell attended the Young Men's Christian Association state convention in Pawtucket Saturday.

—In the latest downpour 1.02 inches of rain fell, helping bring the Water Works ponds up to what should be the cold weather limit before the ice comes on.

—Miss Emily Hughes has gone to New York, where she will remain until the latter part of the month, then going to Palm Beach, Fla., for the winter.

—The condition of Mr. Iver Boreson, who was injured by a fall at the Torpedo Station, remains about the same at the Newport Hospital, his physicians stating today simply that he is holding his own.

—Commissioners Luth and Harrington are planning to make an inspection of the lobster grounds as soon as the weather permits. The season for taking lobsters in Rhode Island waters closed last Wednesday.

—Professor Henry Marion Howe of Columbia University and his sister, Mrs. Richards of Gardiner, Maine, have completed their visit with their sister, Mrs. Maude Howe Elliott, at "Oak Glen," Portsmouth, where the last named is spending the winter.

—The highway department seems to have closed work for the season. All but a few special jobs have been completed, the steam rollers are stabled and about all besides the permanent pavement sweeping is a slight extension of a sewer in Peckham avenue.

—Mr. Kenneth C. Kerr, brother of Pay Director Leeds C. Kerr, who has been here on a visit from his home in Seattle, has gone to Easton, Md., to visit his father and mother, returning to the Pacific coast in a few days. Pay Director Kerr has gone to Washington on business.

—Ether, the adoption of which has revolutionized surgery in the last half-century, may soon be superseded as an anaesthetic as a result of the remarkable experiments being made by Dr. Frederic J. Cotton, a Boston surgeon, son of Captain Joseph P. Cotton of this city.

—The pleasant weather and southwest wind this morning sent the tugboats out with their tows, after a good deal of whistling about 7 o'clock. Only two were left at 9 and they were preparing to go. There are still many barges at anchor in port. Captain Tom Shea counted 25 in this section Sunday, waiting for better weather.

—Ferryboat Inca arrived at the Training Station Saturday and this morning was coaled for the purpose of being placed on the line. It is evident that since both boats are to use one slip at the Government Landing there will need to be a re-arrangement of time tables, as both the Wave and the Inca cannot occupy the slip at the same time.

—There was a little excitement in the harbor Saturday night, when there was a slight fire on barge Massachusetts of the Scully line, anchored just off Sullivan's dock with two others. Some grease caught about the galley on deck about midships and in the dark the fire made a big showing. Before tug Solicitor could reach the barge the men on board had extinguished the blaze.

—At the Young Men's Christian Association Saturday afternoon the boys who had been obliged to call off their hike to the life saving station started a cue roque and checker tournament, it being too wet to be outdoors. The playing began at 2 o'clock with only six boys and stopped at 6 with 13 in the game. The prizes, two chocolate layer cakes, were won by Edward Berry and Arthur Grey.

SHAKING DOWN THE CREW.

Force at the New Army and Navy Building Starting the Work Under Pressure.

The crew of the new Army and Navy building is being "shaken down," as they say in the navy when a new ship goes into commission. It was expected that there would be several days available for this work before the ships of the Second squadron made their appearance and enlivened things about the big "hotel," but this is not so and the institution must work out the problem of settling down to smooth running under pressure, as it started. In one way the force is favored, because it is well along toward another pay day and long after the last one, so that the men have not any large amount of coin to spend. This will probably be felt more in the restaurant than in other parts of the building.

With the last pay day at the local stations three weeks back and only the local men to draw on, a dozen rooms were occupied Sunday night, the permanent roomers not having located yet. The white cloths and napkins which some supposed were on the tables in the restaurant only for the inspection are still to be seen there, as they will continue to be, and there is a healthy patronage of that feature of the building. Mechanics are still at work about the building and the painters have several days more of labor on the decorations.

The janitor's crew at present is much larger that it will after the construction dust has been finally cleared and the mechanics are through. Such a large structure of course requires a considerable permanent force, which excepting waiters, choremen, etc., is made up as follows:

General Secretary—Edwin O. Andrews.

Assistant Secretary and Cashier—F. A. Sharwell.

Educational Director—F. S. Garman.

Superintendent Canteen and Mess—T. Armstrong.

Head Cook—Ambrose Holgesack.

Physical Director—J. H. Conahay.

Night Clerk—F. Spinning.

Relief Man—O. E. Anderson.

Locker Man—William Vars.

Assistant Locker Man—T. Grogan.

Stenographer—Miss B. Patterson.

Janitors—George Kerr, T. W. Spence, Edmund O. King.

The regular peanut social at the Army and Navy Young Men's Christian Association was omitted Saturday evening, owing to the entertainment Friday evening. Instead of the usual program the soldiers and bluejackets found much to occupy their time in the new building. The piano was going at a lively rate until after midnight and the game room and pool tables were crowded all the evening.

The Walter Lowrie Club entertained 100 sailors as its guests Sunday afternoon. The bluejackets were formed in line at the new building by Secretary Andrews and his assistants and marched to the club room. At 5 o'clock a short service was held, at which Mr. Daniel Smith, formerly a soldier at Fort Adams, whose letter to the Daily News was followed by the agitation which ended in the new building on Washington square, was asked by Secretary Andrews to speak in his stead. He gave sound advice, speaking as a brother in the service, taking "Prayer" as his topic. President Edmund O. King of the club sang a solo. Following the service a bountiful supper was served by the club to the sailors.

A church party of 10 attended service at Trinity in the morning, and in the evening Secretary Andrews conducted another party to the First Presbyterian.

MR. VINTON'S PAINTINGS.

There are in Newport numbers of people who should have a lively interest in knowing that there is now for a limited time an opportunity to see at the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston a large loan collection of the works of the late Frederic Porter Vinton, who has been called the dean of Boston University. A Boston newspaper says: "A comprehensive study of his career and of his work tells the history of Boston and in part of New England for the last 40 years."

Of course the collection is not complete, but it includes more than 100 specimens and gives an adequate idea of Mr. Vinton's ability and strength. Mr. Vinton was especially a portrait painter, and the larger portion of his portraits are of prominent men, but there are in the collection numerous other specimens of work of a different character. Some Newport people have seen the admirable portrait of Mrs. Vinton which received honorable mention at the Paris Salon in 1890 and a gold medal at the Columbian Exposition in Chicago in 1893.

The exhibit in Boston includes also the portrait of Mrs. George Peirce. Newporters need no reminder that Mrs. Vinton was one of the daughters of Mrs. Peirce and the late George Peirce, and that the family had their home here for many years, filling a large place in the affairs and in the esteem of the community.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The organization of the New Italian Political Protective Club, was completed Sunday by the election of the following officers:

President—Emidio Papa.
Secretary—Carl Columbus.
Citizen Commission—Michael Decolis, Pasquale Russo, Raymond Piccolo, Paolo Mazzullo.

Twelve thousand barrels of Kentucky whiskey were let loose by a fire which destroyed a bonded warehouse of the Davies County Distilling Company at Owensboro, Ky., Saturday night, and the Ohio river was covered with a sheet of fire. The loss is $400,000.

MIDDLETOWN.

Rev. Endicott Peabody Preaches at Berkeley Chapel—Missionary Address at the Methodist Church.

[Regular correspondence of The News.]

Rev. Endicott Peabody, D. D., rector of Groton School, was the preacher at the morning service at St. Columba, the Berkeley Memorial Chapel, Sunday. His subject was "Work," the text being taken from John IX: 4: "I must work the works of him that sent me, while it is day: the night cometh, when no man can work." Dr. Peabody is a man of commanding presence, and from his extended experience in a large boys' school was able to speak with authority on the value of work and the deteriorating effect of idleness. The service was conducted by the rector, Rev. Latta Griswold, assisted by Rev. John B. Diman.

Rev. Mr. Griswold spoke briefly, but with much feeling, concerning the placing the past week, of the memorial tablet to the late Phoebe A. Peckham. It had been planned to dedicate the tablets to the late Bishop Clark and to Miss Peckham at the same time, on All Saints' day, but owing to delays this proved impossible.

Rev. F. H. Morgan of Boston, field secretary for Zion's Herald, and formerly a missionary, spoke at the Methodist Episcopal Church Sunday afternoon before a good-sized congregation. His text was taken from I Timothy IV: 13: "Till I come, give attention to reading, to exhortation, to doctrine." The address was mainly a talk along missionary lines and concerning the important church paper which he represents. It was stated that there are more subscribers in this parish than in many others.

In the evening the pastor, Rev. Edward E. Wells, delivered an excellent sermon on "The Cure for Cowardice." Psalms LVI: 3: "What time I am afraid, I will trust in thee." The church is planning its annual "harvest concert," at which the fruits of the harvest will be used first in the way of decorations, and then forwarded to Providence to be distributed from the Deaconess Home among needy families for Thanksgiving.

The Christmas sale and turkey supper at the Berkeley parish house will be under the direction of the president of St. Columba's Guild, Mrs. Joseph F. Albro.

The late Mrs. Susanna A. Main was one of the oldest members of the Oliphant Club.

The trustees of the Newport First Beach Land Company have sold to Judson McKenzie lots 247, 248, 249, on the southerly side of Alston avenue, with a combined frontage of 187 feet and containing 28,743 square feet.

TOO ROUGH FOR FISHING AND SHOOTING.

The heavy blow Sunday interfered with the plans of many fishermen, as the sea continued rough and the breakers were booming all along the coast. Only a few ventured out to try their luck. Up the bay there was a scarcity of boats, considering that the ducks are around and it was Sunday. Catboat Carrie, Captain Shea, was up for a while and reports only one other boat, a catboat, in sight and the ducks about as wild as the wind. Bluebills, coot and black duck were seen.

Qualifications That Attract

In the case of Koschny's ice cream are founded upon superiority in flavor, purity and genuine excellence. Lovers of good ice cream have found that there is no other with such a combination of good qualities, and for that reason, alonoit is preferred to any other make.

CANADA REGRETS ACTION.

People Believed to be Sorry Reciprocity Was Rejected.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—According to J. A. MacDonald, editor of the Toronto Globe and prominent member of the Liberal party, Canada is sorry she rejected reciprocity. Mr. MacDonald so declared in an address before the Sunday Evening Club last night. "The people have returned to sober thinking and regret their action," he said. "The voters were swayed by the unintelligent emotion of the crowd. The annexation bugbear was to blame for it all. It was just an evil rumor that got started and you could no more stop it than you could halt a tornado. People were swept away by it and acted rashly. They are now in a repentant mood. Mr. MacDonald's subject was "The Man and The Crowd."

TAFT'S RECORD.

May Break That of Roosevelt in Number of Trust Prosecutions.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—President Taft's administration promises to break the Roosevelt record for number of trust prosecutions. More actions against alleged illegal combinations have been instituted during the past five months than during the entire term of any other President except Colonel Roosevelt, and while the Taft term has a year and three months yet to run, its record already nearly equals that for the seven years Roosevelt was in office. In all 17 bills in equity have been filed and 10 indictments secured under Taft's administration. Under Colonel Roosevelt 18 bills in equity were filed and 25 indictments secured. Seven bills in equity and four indictments make the total for the past five months.

HARVARD LOOKS FOR VICTORY.

Crimson Team Begins Preparations for Game With Yale.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 20.—With no loss by injuries in Saturday's contest with Dartmouth, and with confidence re-gained from the consecutive defeats by the Indians and Princeton, the Harvard football team turned into the home stretch today and began preparations for the culminating game of the season with Yale, six days hence. Although no championship title, however mythical, hangs over this contest in the great white stadium, the football writers and experts in the East seemed to agree that both Harvard and Yale have acquired more football knowledge and have more power, both in the offense as well as in the defense, than any two teams on the gridiron today, and that Saturday's contest will be a struggle of giants.

What both teams want most is a reasonably good field and in the hope that the weather will prove more favorable, the Harvard management started early today on the biggest piece of laundry work in years, that of drying and ironing some 5,000 square yards of badly torn turf.

The Harvard undergraduate body, after the success of the team in holding Dartmouth Saturday, looks for victory over Yale, although it seems to be admitted that the score will be small and the margin narrow.

The tickets for the game went out today, together with 5,000 returned applications, which the management was unable to fill. Close onto 40,000 people will witness Saturday's contest and Yale will have at least two fifths of the stadium.

The entire Varsity squad was expected in the practice this afternoon although it was planned to give the first line players light work, with hard practice tomorrow and Wednesday and perhaps Thursday. The team will remain in Cambridge Friday, with only the lightest kind of signal work that day.

NO HOUNDS FOR THE ARMY.

Controller of the Treasury Rules Against a Good Way to Develop Horsemanship.

The army cannot maintain a pack of hounds to be followed in hunts so that officers may improve in horsemanship. The controller of the treasury has so decided.

The commandant of the mounted service school at Fort Riley, Kan., asked authority to expend not more than $25 monthly for this purpose. His request was endorsed by the Secretary of War, with the statement that European armies engage in this training and that no better way of promoting equitation could be found than following the hounds. The controller maintained that there was no authority of law for the expenditure.

TWO HUGE BATTLESHIPS.

Congress Will be Asked to Provide for Vessels of 30,000 Tons' Displacement.

Rough plans for two huge battleships will be laid before Congress when it convenes. The projected ships are to be of 30,000 tons displacement and armed with ten 14-inch rifles. They are to be nearly 700 feet long, with broad belts of the highest type of hardened armor and with steaming capacity enough to carry them back and forth across the Atlantic.

WORK OF SAME MEN.

Two Attempts to Rob Wakefield, Mass., Residence Foiled.

WAKEFIELD, Mass., Nov. 20.—The popular belief that burglars, like lightning, never visit the same place twice, has received a setback in Wakefield, for the police announced today that unsuccessful attempts to rob the residence of Frank E. Fitz on Main street were made Saturday night. Returning home late Saturday evening Mr. Fitz surprised two burglars in the reception room of his home. The intruders had previously driven three members of the Fitz household into chambers on an upper floor, barricaded the doors and stairs leading to the chambers on an upper floor, barricaded to rob the house. They had a pile of silver, jewelry and clothing on the floor of the reception room, but when Mr. Fitz entered they departed through an open window, jumped into a waiting automobile and were whirled away.

Yesterday Mr. Fitz went on an automobile trip. He returned late in the evening and was surprised to find that the back door of his home had been broken down. The thieves had just begun their operations, when Mr. Fitz entered and they left in a hurry, as soon as they caught sight of him. They also departed in an automobile.

The police believe the breaks were the work of the same men, who are thought to be professional burglars.

Mr. Fitz's wife, who is president general of the National Society of the Daughters of the Revolution, is in Florida.

MME. BONAPARTE DEAD.

Widow of a Member of the Famous French Family and a Former Summer Resident Here.

Mme. Jerome Napoleon Bonaparte, widow of a grandson of Jerome Bonaparte, brother of the First Napoleon, and granddaughter of Daniel Webster, died at her home at Washington Sunday after a long illness. She was first stricken at her summer home in Bar Harbor, Maine, and was taken to Washington in September, since which time she had failed gradually.

She was 72 years old and was born in Boston, her maiden name being Caroline Leroy Appleton. She was married first to Newbold Edgar of New York, and after his death became the wife of Jerome Napoleon Bonaparte of Baltimore. She is survived by five children—Newbold Leroy Edgar of New York; Commander Webster A. Edgar of the navy; Sister Mary de Sales Edgar of the Convent of the Visitation, Baltimore; Jerome Napoleon Bonaparte and the Countess von Moltke-Guitfeldt of Denmark. Mme. Bonaparte formerly spent the summer here, occupying a residence on Harrison avenue.

MORE PAY FOR NAVY CIVILIANS.

Secretary Meyer Recommends Increase in Salaries of Clerical and Technical Force.

Secretary of the Navy Meyer's report, while detailing naval progress, will also contain recommendations in favor of increasing the salaries of the civilian clerical and technical force of the Navy Department. He says: "The civilian clerical and technical force of the Navy Department has not received the recognition that the increased activities of the service and conditions in other executive departments and in private employ warrant. By reason of opportunities for more desirable private employment and better chances for advancement in other departments of the government in which the scale of salaries for similar service appears to be appreciably higher, the loss of competent employes by reason of resignation and transfer has been a source of embarrassment to the department and has seriously affected the stability of the force."

Among the important changes made in the department during Mr. Meyer's administration are these:

The fleet has been re-organized.

A central cost accounting system has been established at navy yards.

A new system of general storekeeping has been installed and competition in the economical use of supplies has been established by publishing the quarterly expenditures by the several departments of all vessels of the same class.

The Secretary recommended and obtained from Congress a small appropriation providing for prizes, trophies and badges for excellence in steaming exercises, to be awarded to the ships in commission for general efficiency and for economy in coal consumption. This action has stimulated the competition in regard to economy of coal consumption and has resulted in a considerable saving.

A series of tests to be made of coal mined on the Pacific coast has been directed by the Secretary, to determine its value for the fleet.

Conditions under which target practice is held by the ships of the fleet have been made more difficult as to weather, sea and range. The tests now approach more nearly to actual battle conditions, and the battle efficiency of the fleet has been steadily improved.

ARREST OF GENERAL REYES.

General Bernardo Reyes was arrested late Saturday by a United States marshal in San Antonio, Texas, on the charge of violating the neutrality laws. The arrest was made in pursuance of an indictment returned by the federal grand jury now sitting at Laredo. The warrant was issued by United States Commissioner Edwards after the report of the indictment had been received. The technical charge is inciting a revolution against a friendly power.

DRUGGISTS.

HANDS WOULD CRACK OPEN

"About two months ago my hands started to crack open and bleed, the skin would scale off, and the good flesh would burn and itch dreadfully. There were small blisters like water blisters which formed. They itched dreadfully, it just seemed as though I could tear the skin all off. I would scratch them and the skin would peel off, and the flesh would be all red and crack open and bleed. It worried me very much, as I had never had anything the matter with my skin. I was so afraid I would have to give up my employment. My doctor said he didn't think it would amount to anything. But it kept getting worse. One day I saw a piece in one of the papers about a lady who had the same trouble with her hands. She had used Cuticura Soap and Ointment and was cured. I decided to try them, and my hands were all healed before I had used one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment. Thanks to them I was cured, and did not have to lose a day from work. I have had no return of the skin trouble." (Signed) Mrs. Mary E. Breig, 2522 Brown Street, Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 12, 1911.

Although Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment are sold by druggists and dealers throughout the world, a liberal sample of each, with 32-p. book on the skin and hair will be sent free, on application to "Cuticura," Dept. KK, Boston.

Weigh Yourself Before Using

Weigh yourself before commencing to use Samose, the great flesh forming food. The wonderful sale on this preparation since first introduced in Newport and the remarkable results following its use have made Hall & Lyon Company such enthusiastic believers in the great value of Samose that they give their personal guarantee to refund the money if Samose will not make thin people fat and restore strength and health to those who use it.

This is a strong guarantee, but Hall & Lyon Company have seen so many of their customers who a few weeks ago looked like walking skeletons become plump and well, solely through the use of Samose that they feel they cannot say too much to induce people to try it.

This marvelous flesh forming food is assimilated as soon as it is taken into the stomach, makes good rich blood, tones up the weakened system, helps to assimilate the food and makes the user plump, well and rosy.

The Chief Difference Between

and other boilers is that they heat the houses they are rated to heat;—you don't have to get the "next larger size."

These Boilers give more heat per pound of coal than others and cost less in repairs. They are simplicity itself in operation, are guaranteed for zero weather efficiency and to save fuel, labor, worry and money to those who use them.

There are no packed joints, sheet iron parts or brick linings in these Boilers, and the "Heat Ribs" cast on the interiors are found in no others.

They are a gilt edge investment for those who want heat and plenty of it at the minimum of expense and care.

LEG BROKEN, SHOULDER HURT.

Letter Carrier Crowther Seriously Injured in Accident by an Ice Wagon.

Letter Carrier William H. Crowther was seriously injured this morning at Mr. Lorillard Spencer's estate on Chastelleux avenue by one of the wagons of the Newport Fisheries & Ice Company. It was shortly after 10 o'clock and Mr. Crowther, driving a two-wheeled trap, had been in at Mr. Spencer's and was driving out toward Chastelleux avenue. The horse of the ice wagon followed. There is a good grade toward the gate and Mr. Crowther, judging by the way the ice wagon was coming, calculated that the two vehicles would meet at the gate. When about 25 feet from the gate he jumped clear of his rig to the grass. It was just at this time that the ice wagon horse did what was not expected; he left the path and ran up on the grass to the place where Mr. Crowther had jumped.

It is supposed the wheel passed over one of his legs and it was feared that his hip might be broken, while he complained of his shoulder and it was noticed that his face was somewhat twisted. The ambulance was called and the injured man was taken to the hospital, where it was stated that his leg was broken and his shoulder was somewhat injured.

PROBATE COURT.

In the probate court this morning the will of William Cutting, Jr., was proved and letters testamentary thereon were granted to John L. Cadwalader of New York, with Edward P. Ingstram of Providence as agent in Rhode Island. Letters of administration on the estate of George Copu were granted to Guy Avalone, on the estate of Ida Lewis Wilson to William Grosvenor, and on the estate of Rebecca Wright to Max Levy. Petitions for sale of real estate of Mabel E. Watkins and for allowance on the estate of Annie M. Ryan were granted. The first and final account of the administrator on the estate of Charlotte Hall was allowed and the balance ordered distributed to the heirs at law. The first and final account of the administrator on the estate of Thomas Vayro was allowed and ordered recorded.

The petition for additional bond on the estate of George Washington Turner was continued to November 27.

At a special session last Thursday the court granted the care and custody of William Creighton Andrews to the State Home and School, A. C. Griffith agent in Newport.

Plainfield Milk Producers Receive Good Offers from Providence.

PLAINFIELD, Conn., Nov. 20.—The tide has turned in favor of the milk producers in this section in the matter of prices, and it now looks as if they would receive considerably more for their commodity than they had anticipated. Recently the Providence Milk Car Association offered the farmers 42 cents per ten quart can of milk for two months, and 36 for the same size can beginning next month and continuing until May 1. The farmers demurred to this and demanded a rate of 42 cents for the entire period. Today word was received from the Providence Milk Car Association offering the men 45 cents for the entire period, and asking them to send as much milk as possible to the cars at that figure. Almost simultaneously came an offer of 47 cents per ten quart can from the Providence Dairy Association, and today a car to receive milk at that figure was sent out by the latter organization.

PACKERS' TRIAL POSTPONED.

Delayal in Cognizance of Kohlsaat's Action in Withholding Entry.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—Judge George A. Carpenter of the United States district court today postponed until Wednesday the trial of J. Ogden Armour and nine other packers, charged with violating the criminal provisions of the Sherman anti-trust act. The postponement was in cognizance of the action of Judge Kohlsaat of the United States circuit court, who, after quashing the writs of habeas corpus proceedings, might have been withheld the entry of the order until Wednesday.

J. Ogden Armour, the only defendant directly concerned in the habeas corpus proceedings, might have been placed on trial, but Judge Carpenter announced that he was not disposed to try his case, separately.

District Attorney Wilkerson asked for a stipulation that when the order is entered by Judge Kohlsaat Wednesday the defendants must give bail in the district court. Attorney for the packers made no objection to this. Counsel for the packers refused to intimate what their next move would be. After the court proceedings terminated, the roll of 150 veniremen was called and the court listened to excuses and pleas for non-service.

Commenting upon the adjournment of the Supreme Court, Levy Mayer, of counsel for the packers, said they had no intention of making an appearance in the federal Supreme Court this morning, as the record could not be completed in time. He added "however that does not mean that we may not do something in that direction later."

NO ATTEMPT TO STAY TRIAL.

Supreme Court Adjourns Without Receiving Packers' Case.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The Supreme Court of the United States today adjourned until Monday, December 4, without attorneys for the indicated packers in Chicago making any attempt before the tribunal to stay the packers' trial on charges of criminal violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

This means that no stay of the trial can now be procured from the Supreme Court, as a body at least, until December 4. It does not, however, preclude the packers from applying to Associate Justice Day, now at Canton, Ohio, for an appeal from the order of the United States circuit court at Chicago, which announced that it would not release the packers from custody on "habeas corpus" proceedings.

Anty Drudge Invited to Take an Automobile Ride.

Miss Spic-a-span (joyfully)—"Hello, Anty Drudge! Come take a ride with me!"

Anty Drudge—"My! An automobile! How extravagant."

Miss Spic-a-span—"No. I earned this with my painting. And I do all my own housework. This is washday, but I was through by 12 o'clock. That Fels-Naptha you told me of is like sunshine on a rainy day. Why, the hanging out is the hardest part of my washing."

If time is money, Fels-Naptha will save you money and lots of it every washday.

Perhaps you don't consider your time is worth money. But your coal is, and your clothes are, and you certainly value your health.

Fels-Naptha saves your coal or other fuel because it cleanses your clothes in cool or lukewarm water, with no need for a hot fire to heat water or boil your clothes, either in summer or winter.

It saves your clothes because there is no boiling to weaken their fibre and no hard rubbing to wear holes in them.

It saves your health because it takes all the back-breaking work out of washday and removes the danger of catching cold from overheated room or steaming suds.

Aren't these things worth saving?

If you think so, get Fels-Naptha and use it according to directions on the red and green wrapper.

Noon—Depression in the London market and pressure against United States Steel and the Wabash issues combined to weaken the stock market during the morning trading. The demand was not large and prices gave way generally, although the railroad division withstood the attack more successfully than the industrials. Short covering and the evident support for the railroad shares were effective in turning the market upward after the force of the selling movement had spent itself.

After some brief periods of hesitation, the market began to improve more sturdily in the second hour. Copper stocks were purchased on a steadily rising scale. Amalgamated Copper and Utah Copper gaining a point. Reports that some of the leading interests were asking 13 cents a pound for the product encouraged professionals. Union Pacific was pushed across 174, but the operations in standard railroad stock were in smaller volume than for some time. United States Steel made up the major portion of its decline, but the rest of the list in common with this stock became quiet on the rise. Bonds were irregular, with Wabash 4's weak. Money on call steady at 2½ per cent. Prime mercantile paper 4 @ 4½ per cent. Exchanges $221,148,136; balances $14,175,681.

NO LONGER A FLAG STATION.

Rear Admiral Rodgers Relieved and the Command Passes to Captain Gleaves.

The Naval Station, Narragansett Bay, ceased to be a flag station at 11 o'clock today, when Captain Albert Gleaves relieved Rear Admiral Raymond P. Rodgers as commandant of the Station and Captain W. L. Rodgers relieved Admiral Rodgers as president of the Naval War College. The last salute to the admiral's flag was accordingly fired this morning by the ships of the Second squadron, Atlantic fleet, which were already in port. Admiral Rodgers left on the 1 o'clock train for New York. It was with great regret at the Station that Admiral Rodgers surrendered his command, for he has been a good commanding officer, well liked by those serving under him.

Before, when Newport has ceased to be a flag station, there have been protests, because the Station was believed to be of too great importance not to be administered by a flag officer. In the division of the duties the two officers who have been assigned are both well known to Newport. Captain Gleaves has been in command of the Torpedo Station and Captain Rodgers a member of the War College staff, so that they require no introduction. They are both too far down on the list to be promoted soon to the grade of admiral, so no relief can be looked for from this source. It has been suggested that, with the re-arrangement of the fleet's formation this winter and because of other demands, there will be a shortage of admirals and Newport may be obliged to wait.

While the First squadron was here and Admiral Rodgers still in command he was the senior officer, but now with the coming of the Second squadron and the change of commands ashore the seniority passed to Admiral Ward and will be afloat during the stay of his fleet.

"MISSED HIS MARK."

Chaplain Porter's Annual Sermon to the Artillery, at Emmanuel Church.

The Newport Artillery attended the service at Emmanuel Church Sunday evening, when Rev. Emery H. Porter, D. D., rector of the church and chaplain of the company, preached his annual sermon. The Artillery turned out in full ranks, marching from the armory under Colonel Frank P. King, and occupying seats reserved in the centre front of the auditorium.

Dr. Porter's sermon was on "The Man Who Missed His Mark," the text being taken from Luke XIX:5, "And when Jesus came to the place he looked up and saw him and said unto him: Zaccheus, make haste and come down, for today I must abide at thy house." At the close of the sermon Dr. Porter as usual spoke directly and personally to the company, the members standing at attention during this portion of the address.

MORE HYDRO-AEROPLANES.

Liberal Appropriation to be Asked by Navy Department to Supply Battleships With Machines.

A liberal appropriation will be asked from Congress next session by the Navy Department for the purchase of more hydro-aeroplanes, and eventually, if is expected, each of the battleships will have one or more of these machines on board ready for use in an emergency. The navy now has two of these aerial craft, and another soon will be completed.

One of the features of the improved hydro-aeroplane which Glenn H. Curtiss is developing it is learned, is to be a cockpit in which the passenger will be seated as in a boat to protect him from the waves. He also plans a different location for the engine, so as to afford a greater degree of safety for the operator in the event of a fall during flight.

Two of the Curtiss machines have been in constant use by the navy since last July at Annapolis, Lieutenants T. G. Ellyson and John H. Towers having made several notable flights together in one of them, demonstrating the advantage of dual control. A Wright biplane, which the navy bought, is also being converted into a hydro-aeroplane by the addition of a Burgess hydroplane, ordered a few days ago. The navy work, with the newest development of aviation, has attracted wide attention, and last Thursday it was announced that Hugh Robinson would go to Russia to demonstrate the machine for the Russian Aerial League.

POLICE NOTES.

The police report this morning was minus. Sunday there was some business. A man for assault paid $12.60, one charged with non-support was placed on probation, and Truant Officer Topham had a lad who has been behaving badly in school and who was placed on probation.

The window washers have of late become careless in their methods and the cold mornings of the past week the street sweepers were obliged to cover with ashes the ice they caused on the sidewalks, to make walking safe in the early hours. The police had the men before the court Sunday for a warning. It is not desired to arrest them, but they should not make unnecessarily slippery sidewalks. They received a warning.

Another cow story reached the station Saturday night, this time of lost cows. Richard H. Peckham reported that some Jerseys, recently purchased at "Sunnyfields Farm," had wandered from their pasture and he was anxious to have them back. He recovered his cows Sunday in the Middletown pound. It cost him 5 cents each to take them out and he calculates that he lost 35 quarts of good milk, because the cows were milked in the pound and not by him, so that it was an expensive wandering which the cows had.

FORWARD ON A BATTLESHIP IN A HEAVY SEA.

SPRING A SURPRISE.

Algonkins Defeat Father Mathew in First Game, With Little Rough Work.

Barker Base Ball Cup Presented to Trojans, Winners in the City League.

The first surprise of the basket ball season was sprung by the Algonkins, when they defeated Father Mathew on the latter's own floor Saturday evening, by the score of 38-21, before a crowd which completely filled the hall. These were the only teams which had not played in the City league. The Algonkins presented the same line-up as last year, with the exception of Kyle, who was not playing. The Tabs had two new men in D. Kenny and McGrath, the latter having played with the Favorites of Fall River last year. Both made a good impression.

It was a fast game, with both teams trying to play basket ball and as little rough work as possible. All the Algonkins generally took chances, shooting from any angle, while the Tabs were more careful and waited for good openings. The passing of the Tabs in the first half was good, while the Algonkins also did some good passing in the second and made nearly every shot shot tell when they had a chance to shoot. Each team had a man in the back field and at no time did either side leave it uncovered. In the middle of the first half the Tabs took a spurt and came within three points of the Algonkins, but this was the nearest they were to catching up. The forwards of the Tabs worked hard but the Algonkin backs were always ready to block them when they had the ball.

Hickey was the high man in the scoring, with six baskets to his credit. Underwood and Dawley coming close second with five apiece. Byrnes and McGrath each secured five for the Tabs. In the second period Byrnes was taken out, Fitzsimmons going in at centre and McGrath moving up to the forward line. Fitzsimmons at his old position at centre seemed to instill vigor into his team, but it was too late, as the Algonkins had a long lead.

The scoring started in the first period with baskets by Dawley and Dwyer. The Algonkins then made it read 12-3, when the Tabs made a fine spurt and came within two points of the Algonkins. The latter then scored three baskets and the Tabs two, making it 18-13 for the first period. The Algonkins started the scoring in the second half, before Martin made a neat overhand shot. The Algonkins then seemed to drop them in from all angles, making this period 20-8. The Tabs in this period had a little hard luck in shooting. The Algonkin team appeared in their new uniforms and sweaters for the first time, and looked well. The line-up:

Father Mathew	Algonkin
Martin, l. f.	r. b., Thompson
Byrnes, r. f.	l. b., Underwood
McGrath, c. r. f.	c., Maher
Fitzsimmons, c.	r. f., Dawley
Kenny, l. b.	l. f., Hickey
Dwyer, r. b.

Score—38-21. Baskets—Hickey 6, Dawley 5, Underwood 5, Maher 2, Byrnes 3, McGrath 3, Martin 2, Dwyer. From fouls—Hickey, Maher, Kenny 3. Missed foul tries—Dawley 2, Thompson 2, Hickey, Martin 2, Byrnes, Fitzsimmons, McGrath, Kenny, Dwyer. Missed field tries—Algonkins 57, Tabs 34. Referees—Roche and McManus. Time—Two 20-minute periods. Timer—Brown, Scorer—Johnson.

Just before the game started President Brown of the City Base Ball League presented the cup to Manager Egan of the Trojans in behalf of Dr. Barker, who had offered it for the summer season. He made a short address, congratulating the winners and hoping the league would be a success again next year. Manager Egan stepped from the crowd and accepted the cup in behalf of the Trojans. He said the Trojans had already played the best ball they knew how, and hoped they would play together again next year as the same team.

THE MANCHESTER MARTYRS CELEBRATION.

Final arrangements were made Sunday by the delegates of the United Irish Societies of Newport for the celebration of the anniversary of the Manchester Martyrs. This will be under the direction of the Irish Societies and Mayor Boyle will preside. Frank Albro will render vocal selections, with Mr. Albert Commette as accompanist, and McCloskey's orchestra will furnish music for dancing.

SEEK SHELTER FROM THE STORM.

Ships of the Second Squadron Driven Into Port by Heavy Seas.

Georgia Still Missing, and Reported as Returning to Hampton Roads.

The search game in which the battleships were to engage did not materialize, having been abandoned because of the raging seas, and six ships of the Second squadron have already arrived in port here, several days ahead of time. They came in without any semblance of squadron formation, the Missouri arriving about 10 o'clock Sunday evening, followed an hour later by the Mississippi and Ohio, and this morning by the Virginia and New Jersey. The Nebraska is supposed to have continued on to Boston, to which port she was ordered because of a murder trial. James Beeks is accused of killing his fellow mess attendant, Alexander Allen, on board that ship while she was in Boston last fall and the court has asked for the attendance of the ship.

The ships left Hampton Roads Friday, with the intention of playing the game, but soon after they were out ran into a howling southwester. The seas tumbled over the forward decks of the vessels and it was with difficulty that they kept their formation.

Finally Admiral Ward signaled his ships to come along as best they could to port and they have straggled in. Strangely enough, hours after the first arrived neither of the flagships had put in an appearance until just before 3 o'clock this afternoon, the Minnesota arrived. The Georgia, Admiral Howard's flagship, is unaccounted for, except for a report which came ashore this morning but has been confirmed only so far as the continued absence of the Georgia confirms it.

The report was that the Delaware was struck by a big wave which damaged her turret and did other harm which caused her to turn back for shelter in Hampton Roads. The big dreadnought, according to all lists, should not have been in the squadron, for she is a part of the First squadron and is supposed to be at New York. It is therefore taken to have been the Georgia, which had the trouble and put back. The local commanding officers have had no communication with the vessels which have arrived, as there has been no flag officer for them to call upon, and know nothing about the affairs of the squadron except that certain ships have arrived. When told of the report they suggest that the names have been mixed and that it was the missing flagship which had the trouble.

It must have been a rather serious pounding which the ship received to have caused it to turn back as the Georgia apparently had done, and possibly the sea which is reported to have struck the turret caused bad leaks and a flooding of turret compartment, which if so could hardly have been repaired in such a seaway.

As The News said Saturday when it spoke of the sailing of the First squadron, it was no pleasure cruise to put out in such a gale, and while some of the men upon coming ashore are disposed to refer to it as being only a "little lumpy," it is evident that the trip was anything but enjoyable.

The coming in of the ships during the night was taken by some as a possible attempt to try out the contention of many that Narragansett bay could be entered at any time under any condition of the weather. It has shown that the harbor may be made in safety at night with one of the heaviest seas running which has been experienced about here, for Sunday water was breaking over ledges where old seafaring men say they have not seen it break for more than 25 years.

The six ships which are in have distributed themselves pretty broadly. The Virginia is just back of the Torpedo station, while the others range along the Jamestown shore and far up the bay. Each seems to have anchored without regard to the others.

Up to the hour The News went to press there had been few men ashore, and those who have come know little or nothing except that their own ships came through all right.

AUTOMOBILE—MOTORCYCLE COLLISION.

There was a collision between an automobile and a motorcycle at the corner of Thames and Church streets early Sunday evening. Mr. Robert Grosvenor was going down Church street slowly in his big automobile and Mr. Cruikshank coming up Thames street on a motorcycle. As Mr. Grosvenor was about to turn down Thames the two machines came together, the former being crowded under the latter. The automobile was stopped and Mr. Cruikshank and his cycle cleared. The machine was only slightly damaged and the rider escaped injury. Officer Gentile was near by and accompanied the two men to the police station, where the matter was settled. Mr. Grosvenor agreeing to pay all the damages. It was a close call for the motorcycle and its rider, and a serious accident was averted by the careful way in which Mr. Grosvenor was driving his machine.

VALUE OF THE HOME.

Recognized as the World's Greatest Institution and Steadying Force.

Dr. Fisher Speaks of "The Family and a Better Race" in the Colonial Series.

Dr. George J. Fisher, a member of the International Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association, spoke on "The Family and a Better Race" at the Colonial Theatre Sunday afternoon, giving the third in the series of lectures to men on "The American Home." Mr. Joseph W. Blaine presided and introduced the speaker, after the singing of "Onward, Christian Soldiers" and "Tell me the old, old story" by the audience.

The home, said Dr. Fisher, is recognized as the greatest institution we have in the world because out of it has come the race. Ancient Rome tried to substitute the state for the home and failed utterly. The home was the nucleus from which all noble aspirations have their birth. He cited the statisticians' reports of deaths of children in institutions, much greater comparatively than the death rate in the homes, showing that outside agencies cannot take the place of the home and the mother. It was never intended that they should. The home ought to be preserved above all things; even if the breadwinner is taken from them the aim should be to keep up the home as far as possible. The fact that we are dealing with souls and not with animals should not escape our minds when we consider the rearing of children.

The home is the greatest steadying influence known. It is the seat of all inspiration to great things and the great factor in building up the morals of the race. It would be a wandering race without the home, and there is every reason why this should be carefully protected. Judges, probation officers and others who have to do with punishment for offenses against the law recognize that it is a bad thing to break up the home.

The Jewish people hold the home the most sacredly of any race; though scattered and persecuted in many parts of the earth, they have recognized the sacredness of the home life. With Americans, however, the home ties are too easily broken, with the result of a deterioration of the general moral tone of the people.

The speaker had some well defined views of marriage, which he expounded in a manner to be understood by all. He did not approve the idea which some people have that they must wait until settled in their mode of life before they marry. He thought 25 the ideal age for a young man to marry; above all, young people should not wait so long that it will be difficult to become accustomed to each other's habits of living. He scored mercenary marriages, declaring that when women begin choosing their husbands for any other motives than love and respect, then will begin the deterioration of the race.

Dr. Fisher dwelt also on the physical side, regarding the marriage of people physically unfit, and said he believed the time is coming when people marrying must first pass a physical test. He spoke from the physician's standpoint of the temperamental differences between woman and man, lending a humorous color to his statements in his analysis of women's characteristics.

USE OF SCHOOL TELEPHONES.

Excessive and Unreasonable Habit of Sending Messages to Pupils Checked at the Rogers.

The following notice has been posted at the Rogers High School:

"The principal of the Rogers High School is authorized by the committee of the High School to decline during the school session to call pupils to the school telephone or to transmit messages except in cases of illness or for some equally important reason."

There is a reason for the posting of such a notice and that is the unreasonableness of some people who have children in the school. There are more than 550 pupils at the Rogers and if the parents of each sought to use the school telephone for conveying information to them, the same as some have done, it can readily be seen that one teacher would spend the entire day looking up pupils to answer the telephone and then would not have reached all; some would be still dissatisfied. Besides, the pupils go to school to study and not to receive messages from their parents. Recently one man was very much disturbed because his boy did not receive a message which he sent him, though this was not due to the fact that the teacher who received the message did not spend time looking for the boy, who happened to be out of the building at the time.

Some parents use the all too handy telephones to give their children orders to bring things home or to do errands before going home.

There may be occasions which call for sending a message to a pupil at school during hours, but they should come seldom to parents who care for the best interests of the children and do not wish to interfere with the work of the school.

The rule was made by the committee on the high school and is only another example of what is made necessary by the abuse of privileges.
